

DIAZ GIVES ZELAYA A LITTLE FRIENDLY ADVICE

Advises Ex-President of Nicaragua About Talking Too Much for the Newspapers as he Might be Misunderstood.

By Associated Press
MEXICO CITY, Dec. 30.—That President Diaz today gave Zelaya little friendly advice in regard to talking to newspaper representatives, when he whispered in the ear of Zelaya and told him that it would be wise for him to refuse to express opinions freely, was admitted by Zelaya's secretary tonight, when he returned a card to a newspaper man with the remark that the ex-dictator of Nicaragua had just adopted a policy of refusing to be interviewed and would have nothing more to say for publication for six days. Why six days were named he would not explain. In refusing to see one reporter, Zelaya, through his secretary, told him he wished to avoid being the means of bringing Mexico into controversy and anyway, that if he further discussed matters, his statements might be misconstrued. Zelaya's visit to the national palace lasted half an hour. The introduction was made by Lieutenant Colonel Cuellar, an aide of Diaz, and not by the official introducer of the Ambassadors, hence the meeting was devoid of an official character and Zelaya was received as a private citizen.

To a friend today, the Nicaraguan visitor said that after he had been in Mexico for two or three months he would go to Brussels to personally superintend the education of his children.

ORANGE CROP IS THREATENED BY COLD WAVE

This morning the mercury ranged from two degrees above zero at Asheville, N. C., to 32 at El Paso, 20 at Jacksonville, Fla., and 28 at Tampa. This, according to the local weather bureau, is the coldest December day the south has ever known, but no serious damage is believed to have been done the Florida orange crop. The cotton planters are delighted, believing that millions of the boll weevil have been destroyed.

MEMBERSHIP OF MISSION WORKERS IS INCREASING

Report Shows Vast Increase in Students Volunteer Movement for Foreign Missions.

By Associated Press
ROCHESTER, N. Y., Dec. 30.—The report of the executive committee of the Student Volunteer Movement of Foreign Missions, at present in session in this city, set forth that the primary and permanent function of the movement is that of a recruiting agency seeking to enroll a sufficient number of well-qualified volunteers to meet the requirements of the mission boards of North America. The best evidence of the efficiency and power of the Student Volunteer Movement is the number of sailed volunteers. At the Toronto convention in 1902 it was reported that 780 volunteers had sailed during the preceding four years. In the quadrennium following the Toronto convention, and ending with the Nashville convention in 1906, 1,000 volunteers sailed. During the four years which have since elapsed, ending with the Rochester convention, 1,283 volunteers have sailed, or nearly 300 more than for the quadrennium ending with the Nashville convention.

The total number of volunteers who have sailed since the beginning of the movement in 1886, is 4,346.

Another test of the rising tide of practical missionary interest among students is the increase in their missionary giving. At Nashville it was reported that the students of North America were contributing $80,000 a year to missionary objects. They are now giving $127,000 a year toward such objects, or an increase in four years of nearly 60 per cent. There are literally scores of colleges and schools each supporting entirely or in large part its own representatives on the foreign field. The students of Yale head the list at present with their contribution last year of fully $10,000 to missionary objects. Among women's colleges the students of Vassar made the largest contribution having given last year $3,385.

The past four years have been a record-breaking period in the promotion of mission study among students. In the year preceding the Nashville convention there were 1,049 mission study classes in institutions of higher learning in the United States and Canada. Last year there were 2,084. In the year before the Nashville convention the total number engaged in mission study was 12,629. During the past year it was 25,208. The number has doubled in four years.

MADRIZ NOT RECOGNIZED BY THE UNITED STATES

Mexico Also Fails to Recognize the Successor of Zelaya. Vote of Thanks is Extended by Nicaraguan Congress to Carnegie.

By Associated Press
MANAGUA, Dec. 30.—The Mexican government has in no way officially recognized madriz as the president of Nicaragua. The telegrams that have passed between Diaz and Madriz were of a personal character, and the latter himself does not construe them as a formal recognition of his incumbency. The presidential reception Tuesday was attended by official representatives of all nations except the United States and the Nicaraguan administration doesn't see why formal recognition from any country except the United States is necessary. Congress today conferred authority upon the executive to abolish the tobacco and alcohol monopolies, and for indemnifying private stockholders for the loss of their holdings which now become the property of the states. The revenues from these monopolies have netted as high as 14 per cent monthly and are to be used in the payment of interest on the English loan which went towards the enrichment of relatives and friends of Zelaya. A vote of thanks was proposed to Andrew Carnegie on the strength of a dispatch from the United States quoting him as ready to donate twenty millions to assure peace in Central America.

San Francisco Votes for Municipal Ownership

By Associated Press
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30.—By a margin of 2,465 votes over the necessary two-thirds majority, the voters of San Francisco declared today for municipal ownership, and operation of the Geary street railroad and its extension on the east to the Ferry building and on the west to the Ocean shore. This proposal was rejected three times during the past five years. The total vote polled was 43,081, and is the greatest vote cast in this city for a special election. When the count for the 300 precincts was finished the figures stood 31,185 for the bonds and 11,694 against. The supervisors will now authorize a bond for the city to the extent of $2,020,000 for use in the reconstruction of the present cable road on Geary street to a modern electric system and to extend it both directions until the city shall own and operate a line cutting straight across the business sections from the bay shore to the ocean beach.
